

INTWINE

Created Crafted Curated

Dear All,

Five years ago today, I was unpacking boxes, pricing products, arranging displays, tightening screws and, if I am being completely honest, feeling a massive wave of opening-day nerves. The launch of my store on September 3, 2021, a dream I had held close for more than two decades, was finally happening.

To celebrate INTWINE's 5th anniversary, I am welcoming back a dear friend: Swiss artist Sabeth Holland. Her luminous, gold-touched paintings have brought warm light to our space the day we opened our doors.

Now Sabeth comes back with a special CELEBRATION! exhibition on display at INTWINE from today through September 10, featuring vibrant new paintings alongside her iconic Discdelights and a Lovable.

To mark the occasion, Sabeth has also created 50 one-of-a-kind, hand-painted art bags. Each piece blends INTWINE's identity with her signature joyful brushwork. Starting September 3—our official anniversary date—these commemorative bags will be available to customers who make a purchase of CHF 50 or more.

It took Sabeth an entire month to create the bags, though she hesitates to count the hours: "To me, the project was one continuous flow," she shared. "Making them was pure, uninterrupted joy."

Sabeth will also be at the store on September 3, from 12:00 to 16:00, and she can't wait to celebrate with you in person.

Below, enjoy our interview with Sabeth as we talk about color, craftsmanship, and what it means to build something meaningful over time—together.

Warmest regards,

Sabeth Holland's works will be displayed at INTWINE from August 25 to September 10, 2026. 50 unique CELEBRATION! bags will be available at the store on September 3.

"I am gifted with an enormously rich inner world, where fantasies intertwine with experience. I believe that everything grows when shared."

Sabeth Holland

How would you describe your artistic style in three words, and where does your love of color and abundance come from? Powerful, unmistakable, positive – I am gifted with an enormously rich inner world, where fantasies intertwine with experience. I believe that everything grows when shared.

You have exhibited at, among others, the Fondation Fernet Branca, Art Central/Art Basel Hong Kong, and Galerie Koo. How has your work evolved over the years? In 1989, I started with small works in watercolor on paper, painted at my kitchen table, with a baby and a toddler keeping me busy at the same time. 1998, I began to use pure gold in almost all of my works. These days, I develop complex concepts for projects in buildings and public spaces, including installations, sculptures, large oil paintings, digital interventions, and large-scale paintings. I work from two ateliers and one digital studio.

What drew you to collaborating with INTWINE for their 5th anniversary? Was there a particular theme or idea that especially guided you in creating your artworks for your art exhibition at INTWINE? Friendship and the anticipated inspiration that comes with a powerful, warm-hearted collab partner that YOU are. – I felt that the anniversary wanted something that unites the joyous impulses that join INTWINE and my art. So I came up with a bubbly color concept for the CELEBRATION! exhibition that extends into the choice of the new Discdelights. Paper is so sensuous, yet moderate, that it becomes something extra special in combination with gold. It is the light that transforms the surface into a form of skin, turning a static object into a being full of life.
